Father's shoulder pain gone after 6 visits — he's back to morning walks

My father suffered from severe shoulder pain and stiffness for over three years. He lives in a nursing home and I had resigned myself to him never getting better. Zacc visited him every week for six weeks, and by the end, Dad was lifting his arm above his head again. He's now back to his morning walks with the physio team. We're so grateful to have found a practitioner willing to come to him.
